I am a Full-stack Developer with 4+ years of experience administering G-Suite, Atlassian, Slack, and Microsoft applications. I have worked as a Systems Analyst determining laptop lifecycle and specifications and was responsible for the onboarding/offboarding of users and equipment. I possess superior collaboration and leadership skills and advanced problem solving skills. My technical expertise in full-stack development, my passion, and my leadership skills make me a strategic candidate for any team. My drive for continuous personal development and my love of problem solving are the motivating factors behind my desire to transition to a developer. The 5+ years I spent as an automotive technician allowed me to hone my critical problem solving skills. My desire to be in the technology field led me to a career in IT. My passion to create, to expand my knowledge in the IT field, and to bring in new opportunities for growth allow me to bridge the gap between IT and web development.
